Corporate policy of SPORER PCS GmbH

We see our company in the environment of different social groups of interest and we respect their ideal concepts with discernment.

A high quality of our products, the protection of people and the environment and especially the resources are in our opinion the indispensable premises for the long-term achievement of our objectives. That is why economic efficiency, social responsibility and protection of the environment are essential elements of our corporate policy.

We always strive to achieve the biggest usefulness with our products for our different groups of customers. That is why we feel constrained to report about the organisation of our processes and products in a responsible way.

We want to establish reliable and durable partnerships on all levels with our customers, suppliers and staff by maintaining an open dialog about questions concerning quality, safety and protection of the environment.

We motivate our staff with information and training to think and act responsibly and to be conscious of their role model vis-à-vis third parties. This is for us an essential premise for a satisfied staff, that works together in the company in an efficient and a task-oriented way.

The respect of statutory provisions and regulatory stipulations is for us the minimum standard. Furthermore, we engage ourselves for highly qualitative and ecologic product standards in all scopes.

Our willingness for innovation results from the knowledge about existing impacts of the products for the environment in all phases. The evaluation of all process steps for ecologic criteria, a corresponding way of thinking and the avoidance of waste contribute to the reasonable use of resources.

Where ecological damages cannot be avoided somehow, we reduce them with the best and economically defensible technology.

The quality management system, based on the international norm EN ISO 9001, regulates responsibilities, organisational structures and processes of the company. The frequent control of these stipulations for their efficiency and the correction of non-conformities with the corporate policy helps to achieve a constantly high quality of our products and a process of continuous improvement.

We influence our supplier and service providers to respect the same standards.

This corporate policy is published on our website www.sporer-maschinenbau.de.
